Railway Business For February

Returns of the railways to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the month of February, 1912, which have been compiled by the Bureau of Railway Economics, show increase both in receipts and expenses as compared with February, 1911.

The returns, which cover about 90 per cent of the steam railway mileage of the country, average as follows per mile of line for the month: Total operating revenues per mile of line averaged $906, as compared with $891 in February, 1911, the increase resulting almost entirely from freight traffic, passenger revenue having slightly decreased. Operating expenses per mile of line averaged $712, as compared with $698 in February, 1911; net operating revenue $254 as compared with $253 in February, 1911. Taxes amounted to $44 per mile of line, an increase of ten and nine-tenths per cent over February of the previous year.

As February contained twenty nine days in 1912 and twenty-eight days in 1911, the returns for this month of the current year, other things equal, would be one twenty-eighth, or nearly four per cent greater than for February, 1911. A comparison that eliminates the effect of the extra day of the returns per mile of line for each day. The net operating revenues thus averaged $8.76 per mile of line per day in February, 1912, $9.5 in 1911 and approximately $9.20 in 1910.

Therefore $8.76 is the average amount that occurred to each mile of line for each day of February for the payment of taxes, rentals interest on bonds, appropriations for betterments and dividends; and this on a net average capitalization stated by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its volume of statistics for the fiscal year 1910 to be $62,657 per mile of line. The total net capitalization of all of the railways of the United States as shown by that report is $14,338,575,940.

THE SEARCHERS

Smith started out, in answer to
A write-up of a distant land,
Where fruits and flowers always grew
And south winds warmed a coral
strand:
But soon a letter came along—
Would take a rod and whiz it
To those at home who held Smith
dear:
And thus the burden of Smith's song
"You have to earn your living
here."

Again Smith moved—and he was most
Enthusiastic o'er the view:
Twas where, to quote the agent's
boast,
The easy money bushes grew:
But back a postcard winged its flight
To those at home who held Smith
dear:

And this was all he cared to write:
"You have to earn your living
here."

Poor Smith! in vain his restless feet
Shall fare beneath the rainbow
arch:
In vain through lands of cold and
heat
Shall he, and kindred searchers,
march:
For there has always been one sign
To great man's vision, dull or
clear:

E'en to Utopia it shall shine:
"You have to earn your living
here."

Women as Worshipers.

Women are born worshipers; in their good little hearts lies the most craving relief for greatness; it is even said each chooses her husband
on the hypothesis of his being a great man—in his way. The good creatures, yet the foolish!—Thomas Carlyle.

EDUCATION

I went to college in my youth,
Though dad possessed no means;
And I am glad because, forsooth,
I didn't say DemosTHENES.
—Jamestown Democrat.

We well recall how teacher dear
Would take a rod and whiz it
About the forms of all she'd hear
Say something was exQUISite.
—Youngstown Telegram.

And well do we recall the smile
That 'round the class would ripple
When kids would hesitate awhile
And then say muniCIPAL.
—Milwaukee Sentinel.

We still can see our teachers shame
Grow more and more pathetic,
When someone, telling of a game,
Said it was athLETic.
—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

And we recall our teacher, how
For her there was no solace
When, on seeing it the first time we Pronounced it metroPOLIS.

Earlington Snowed Under In June

In one of the fastest games of ball played on the local grounds Hopkinsville defeated Earlinton the score 6-4. The score was tied early in the game and was "nothing doing" in the latter part of the game until ninth, with a lead of one score in the eighth and by securing three and a comedy of errors by the Earlinton players untied them there seemed a chance for the locals, with two men on bases Oliver the Hop-town pitcher held the Earlinton batsman down and pulled out a bad hole. Mitchell pitched good ball for Earlinton and would have won his game easily with the proper support.

GREAT CROWDS

ATTEND MEMORIAL

Exercises Held at Odd Fellows Cemetery
Sunday Afternoon

Nearly one thousand people attended the Decoration Day exercises at Odd Fellows cemetery, held under the auspices of the Earlinton Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. Conveyance was furnished by the Daughters and left the Y. M. C. A. building at 2:30 o'clock. Assisted by the veterans they placed bouquets on the monument and from there a parade was formed, headed by Company E, followed by the uniform ranks and Lodge members of the W. O. W. The carriages of Veterans and Daughters and numbers of private conveyances were in the rear.

Immediately on arriving at the cemetery the decorating of the graves were attended to, the Soldiers, Woodmen and Veterans each laying flowers on the graves of their dead. The crowd then gathered around the lot dedicated to the unknown dead, where Rev. Bernard opened the service with prayer. The chorus, America, was sung. Mayor Gatlin acted as master of ceremonies and the male quartet, Messrs Thomas, Taylor, Sory and Vannoy sang a beautiful selection. Rev. Harrison delivered the main address which was forceful, touching and very much appreciated. The services closed with another selection by the quartet.

The Daughters of the Earlinton Chapter desire to thank both the Woodmen and Company E. for their courtesy, and to the citizens who assisted them.
